Conditions of Use

While the Cape May County Historical & Genealogical Society owns the object, we may not be the copyright holder. The Society does not assume responsibility for literary property, copyright, or any other legal property involved in the reproduction or the publication of items from its collections. This includes all documents, photographs, maps, and works of art. The user must assume all responsibility for securing permission from the appropriate copyright holder if publication is planned.

Not all items will be made available for reproduction and/or publication. Permission to use materials from Society collections does not give the user exclusive rights to the material, nor the right to manipulate or crop the item without explicit permission, nor does permission include future re-use of the material. Each new use requires a new Use Agreement.

The person signing the agreement is responsible for these conditions. This form acts as the contract and invoice. A Society representative will countersign the form. The form will be returned, signifying that use as stated on the form has been granted. All fees must be paid in full to receive your order.

The Society must be credited on or next to each image or film clip as "The Cape May County Historical & Genealogical Society" (and photographer/artist credit if applicable). The applicant must submit publications for review prior to publishing and send a complimentary copy to the Society once complete.
